FOR JURY COMMISSIONER,
JOHN D. DECKER, of Potter twp.

HOW IS IT?

The well intentioned citizen who has not yet decided how to vote at the coming election may well consider his ground. I hope he will inquire of himself how he likes the conditions since the Republican party has gone out of power. How has it been with him individually? Has he had steady employment? Is he paid the old Republican wage rate? Does he find the cost of living cheaper and the ability to meet that cost better? Is his business prosperous? Is he as contented and confident of the future as before? When he has answered to himself these vital questions let him, on his way to the polls, pass the silent mill, the cold furnace, the broken bank, the deserted forge, let him pass by poverty and want, business paralyzed and confidence vanished, and then record his judgment of the responsibility for these conditions and his hope for the future in the ballot which he places in the box.—From speech of General Hastings at the League of Clubs convention.

THIS IS THE TIME.

This is the time for the best endeavors of prtriotism. If it shall grasp the great opportunity now presented the Republican party will enter upon a new if not a grander career in the redemtion of the land from material and industrial paralysis, from the lack of confidence, which is the father of panics, from that commercial frenzy which drives solvency to the wall, and from that unscrupulous quality of demagogy which seeks to array class against class, capital against labor, and section against section.—From speech of General Hastings at League of Clubs convention.

WHO imported the first ship load of Italian laborers into this county, at the port of New York?—Tom Collins.

WHO brought the first gang of pauper foreign laborers into Centre County?—Tom Collins.

WHO is Tom Collins? He is the democratic candidate for Congressman-at-large. Those who are in favor, of the importation of foreign pauper labor into this country to take the place of our native born citizens, should vote for Tom Collins. He is their man.

THE democratic speakers in Bellefonte the past week, have charged, that the republicans were in favor of the importation of foreign cheap labor into this country; yet they have nominated for Congressman-at-Large, the very man who imported the first cargo of Italian laborers to take the place of our own working men, and that man was Tom Collins. This is always the way with democratic orators, they charge their opponents with the very sins they themselves are guilty of in order to divert the attention of the people from their own rottenness. The republican party has placed all the restrictions on foreign pauper immigration that was ever placed upon it. The democratic party has no objections to the importation of cheap labor and full trade to bring down prices and paralize every industry in the couuntry is what they always legislate for. If you want cheap foreign labor and free trade in this country, of course, Tom Collins is your man.

Aaron Williams' Love (?) for Miners.

[From the Ridgway Advocate.]

We have just learned from a most reliable source a story of the remarkable penuriousness of Aaron Williams, the democratic candidate for congress. During the great miners' strike last summer, a committee of miners from Clearfield county visited Bellefonte to solicit money to aid the families of the suffering miners. They were taken to the court house by friends, and while in the prothonotary's office, talking to the prothonotary, Aaron Williams, the democratic congressional candidate, came in and passed into the vault. The door was open and Mr. Williams could hear what was said. After the clerk had given the committee some money he directed them to go into the vault and see Mr. Williams, the candidate, expecting they would get a liberal donation from Mr. Williams. They went into the vault and were surprised to find that Mr. Williams had climbed out of the window and escaped. There was no other door for Williams to go out. He had heard their talk, and supposing they would come after him, he fled like a penurious coward, out of the window, and left, hoping to save his money and at the same time not be compelled to refuse them as he wants their votes on the 6th of November. Of course, the laboring men, especially miners, will feel like sending such a man as that to represent them in congress.

Checks that Won't Check.

The charge has been made against Aaron Williams, the democratic candidate for congress in this district, that in order to escape being importuned for the relief of destitute miners, he escaped through the window of the vault at the prothonotary's office. He first hid in the vault and finally escaped through the window. It is also alleged that to escape the odium of showing himself so penurious he is now exhibiting checks to whoever will take the trouble to examine them that he has made large contributions to this same benevolent object; and again, on the other hand it is said that the checks he shows have been given since he was a candidate, that he was not prompted by a generous disposition in the giving. These charges are made and have not up to this time been denied. They fit snug for the reason that Mr. Williams is not credited even by his warmest friends with a strong inclination to part with his funds easily; that is, he is not of an extremely generous disposition. As far as we can see the checks do not seem to help him out of his difficulty to any appreciable extent, as it meets with disfavor from friend and foe, in the language of a prominent local democratic politician. "Mr. Williams," he says, (in speaking on the check matter) "is a nice fellow: a good citizen and all that, but a d——n poor politician." And so our friend Aaron is getting it all around. Well, if this helps any to keep him out of congress, it will have done a good work, for we want men in congress next year that will do what can be done to improve these too-much-democratic times.

Mr. Williams is a good citizen, an honest man, but he is not the man to send to congress from this district, for the reason that he is a free-trader, will act with his party and will do nothing and can do nothing to improve the present condition of affairs. Every good, loyal lover of good government in this district should cast his vote for W. C. Arnold, for congress.

He Still Owes It.

In the year when Robert Cook was candidate for sheriff C. M. Bower, the democratic candidate for judge, was a member of the South Ward election board. They were counting off the poll when Bower, feeling encouraged by the character of the vote in the precinct, said, "I will bet a box of cigars that Noll will have five hundred majority in the county." A republican member replied, "I will take that bet." "It must be good cigars, mind," says Bower. "All right," says McClure.

Instead of Noll having five hundred majority, our readers will remember Mr. Cook had it and McClure had won his bet. Some time afterwards McClure was in Bower's office. Bower said "I owe you a box of cigars?" "Yes," said McClure, "I believe you do." Some time afterwards McClure bought a box of cigars for $1.50 and sent the bill to Bower, who said, "I owe Bill McClure a box of cigars, but I never ordered these," and he did not pay for them. He has not paid for them to this day. Now, is a man fit for judge who will make so small a bet and refuse to pay when he gets left? Aaron Williams crawled out of the window, but has not Bower crawled out of a smaller hole.

"In the days of Joanne d' Arc" is the name of Mrs. Catherwood's new novel now nearly completed for the Century Magazine. Mrs. Catherwood has just returned from France, where she has spent months studying the literature of the subject, visiting the scenes of the heroine's life, and working upon the manuscript of her book. The novel is to be brilliantly illustrated, the Franco-American Castaigne having undertaken the work. Castaigne is a profound admirer of the great Joanne, and familiar with the theater of her deeds.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct, 29, 1894.
From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Obstinacy and animosity are apparently stronger traits in the character of Mr. Cleveland than loyality to the party to which he owes so much. Up to this time he has declined to indicate by word or deed that he wishes to see his personal enemy and party associate, Senator Hill, elected Governor of New York. On the contrary, his acts, if not his words, indicate that he wishes to see him defeated. There are still a few democrats who profess to believe that he will at some time during the present week, the last of the campaign, take occasion to say something which can be construed into a wish for the success of Hill, but, in view of what is known, it is difficult to see upon what such a belief can be based. Mr. Cleveland neglected to register although he had ample opportunity to have done so, as well as the legal right, which plainly indicates that he does not wish to vote for Hill. He excused himself from seeing Senator Faulkner, chairman of the democratic campaign committee, when he called at the White House to discuss the New York campaign, on the flimsy plea that the Cabinet was at the time in session. Had he and the administration really wished the success of their party in New York there would have been nothing improper or unprecedented in inviting Senator Faulkner to discuss the matter with the Cabinet as well as the President. Senator Faulkner apparently takes this view of the matter, as he has not repeated his visit.

But still more significant than the above is the announcement that Secretary Carlisle will not go to New York to make a speech for Hill. There is little doubt that Mr. Cleveland ordered Secretary Carlisle not to help Hill, as it is well-known that Mr. Carlisle was before Mr. Cleveland's return to Washington inclined to accept the invitation to make several speeches in New York, and he intimated, if he did not say in so many words, that he would make several speeches in [illegible] were agreeable to Mr. Cleveland. It is therefore plain that it is not agreeable.

All this is naturally pleasing to the managers of the republican campaign. They have never believed that the help of Mr. Cleveland could elect Hill, but they are confident that his refusal to do so will add to Mr. Morton's majority and to the number of republicans elected to the House. The indications now are that more than two-thirds of New Yorks delegation in the next House will be republicans. Mr. Cleveland's position will also help the republicans in other States. It may be, as has long ago been charged by democrats, that Mr. Cleveland has become so disgusted with the legislation of democratic Congress that he wishes the republicans to control the House; but whether he wishes it or not republican success is today regarded in Washington to be as much of a certainty as any political event can possibly be before the votes are cast and counted.

There is much abuse being heaped up on Mr. Cleveland by democrats for the position he has taken, and it is not all privately expressed, either. Representative Meredith, of Va., who is a candidate for re-election, made a speech before the Virginia Democratic Association, an organization largely composed of office-holders, which was uproariously applauded, particularly when he used the following language! "It is Grover Cleveland's bounden duty to endorse Hill. The fact that he is President increases rather than lessens his responsibility. If he is the democrat he ought to be he can find no excuse for faltering or hanging back from the support of the straight ticket in his own State, upon which he has been so many times elected to office. Those who believe that these remarks constitute reason may make the most of it. The prediction is heard on all sides, that even if Mr. Cleveland should now make public an eleventh-hour endorsement of Hill the breach between the White House and the democrats in Congress will be more marked at the coming session than ever.

All of the excellent work done by the late Secretary Rusk and his colleagues of the Harrison administration to make the shipment of dressed beef and live stock to Germany profitable to Americans has been undone, thanks to democratic blundering. The German Ambassador has given the State Department formal notice of the issuance of a decree by his Government prohibiting the importation of dressed beef and cattle from the United States. The Ambassador gives as the reason of the action of his Government that Texas fever has been carried to Germany by American cattle, but it is no secret among officials and members of the diplomatic corps that the action of Germany is the first step towards retaliation upon the United States, on account of the differential duty of one-eighth of one-cent a pound imposed upon Germany refined sugar by the sugar schedule of the tariff law. This democratic favor to the sugar trust, for such the differential duty on refined sugar is admitted by all to be, is likely to prove doubly costly to the people of the United States, as there is reason for the belief that Germany will shortly adopt additional retaliatory measures. The only way to stop the troubles caused by democratic legislation is to elect republicans to Congress.

The Old Gag.

Whenever the Democracy of Centre County get desperate and want to destroy the popularity of a republican candidate, they start that old gag that he said in a speech or conversation somewhere that the dutch of this county have two skulls, and that you have to break one of them before you can get any sense into their heads. This story has, or they think it has, served their purpose on several occasions. We could name a dozen candidates more against whom this charge has been made in the last twenty years, and now it has been made again against Gen. Hastings. It is possible that our so-called Dutch or German American citizens (and they are no more dutch than the rest of us are Irish and English) repeatedly deluded into anger against republicans year after year by this stale lie. We will not believe it for that itself is a reproach against the intelligence of some of the best citizens of our county. It has now been charged against Gen. Hastings in the Centre Democrat, of this town, that some years ago in a speech at Pleasant Gap he repeated this old chestnut (for it was old even then.) Of course the General never said anything of the kind and our friend, Harvey Griffith, who lives at the Gap and was present at the meeting when this absurd statement is said to have been made, writes to us as follows denouncing the charge as entirely false:

E. T. TUTEN,
Editor Bellefonte Republican,

DEAR SIR:-

The Centre Democrat of Oct. 25th contains an article entitled "Repeating a Ridiculous Speech Delivered at Axe Mann Sixteen years ago." I had the honor of being present at said meeting and I am willing to take oath that Gen. Hastings used no such language as double skulled. The editors informer is off his base or not well versed in the history of lies as that identical and same lie was circulated in 1860 on one of our Honored Dead.

Yours Respt.,
S. HARVEY GRIFFITH

Axe Mann, Pa. Oct. 29th, 1894.

A Letter from W. C. Arnold.

Last Saturday we received the following letter from our candidate for congress from this district. It explains itself:

To the Voters of the 28th Congressional District:

The extreme length of the District,—extending across about three-seventh of the entire length of the state,—makes it impossible for me to visit all the numerous precints and meet each of you. I am therefore compelled to adopt this means of communication, and ask the support of those whom I could not meet personally. My political principles are generally known in this District. I am unalterably opposed to free lumber, free wool, and free coal; and, in brief, I am a protectionest and not a free trader. I am especially opposed to free lumber and free coal, because it opens wide the foreign countries, and this necessarily reduces the wages of those who earn their bread in the sweat of their face. and this particularly affects the wage earners of this 28th District. Ibeleive that every drop of sweat that gathers on the brow of toil should be compensated for promptly and liberally in honest money.

I believe that the brave boys in blue who saved this Nation in her hour of peril should receive liberal pensions, and I condemn the attack of Hoke Smith on the pensions as most infamous. A pension is not a gratitude or a charity—it rises to a higher plane of earned compensation and patriotic duty, and a Nation that does not care for her crippled, diseased and aged soldiery does not deserve to live.

I must not impose on your patience further, and will only add, that if elected to Congress I will do my whole duty as God gives me light to do it.

Very respectfully,
William C. Arnold.

DuBois, Pa. Oct. 29th, 1894.

THE effort to trade everything for Bower, which the democratic organization is straining every effort to have done, is likely to result in much change. The republicans are not trading their Judge which is a sure thing, for the state and county ticket. The State ticket is all right and we are not going to sacrifice one part of our county ticket for another. Not at all. Republicans, vote a clean straight ticket and we will elect every man on it.

AN EFFECT OF THE TARIFF.

The Democrats have always insisted that there was no necessity for protective duties on farm products, as other nations could not possibly send such products here in a competing way. They framed the new tariff according to this theory, decreasing and removing duties previously imposed upon articles of that kind, and now the farmers are beginning to have object lessons presented to them upon the subject of the practical working of the non-protective policy.

For example, a consignment of eleven cars of cattle was received at Chicago a few days ago from Mexico, a thing heretofore unknown in that market. These cattle, numbering 234 steers and fifty cows, were shipped from a ranch at Sabinas, Mexico, crossing the line at Eagle Pass, and the freight on them was $161.55 per car, and the tariff duty—20 per cent. ad valorem—amounted in all to about $600. They were sold at prices averaging $10.83 per head, and after payment of all expenses the shipper had a good profit left, and predicted that the success of his experiment would result in large exports of cattle from Mexico to this country, as they can be raised there on native grass at a comparatively small cost, and profitably transported by rail across a large portion of the United States and sold at rates which put domestic competition out of the question. Thus we have one of the effects of the Democratic tariff law, and it is certainly not an agreeable one for agricultural voters to contemplate.

THE CONSISTENCY OF PROTECTION.

The point is often made that no protection should be given to the sugar industry by the payment of a bounty, because no bounty is given to the farmer who grows corn or wheat. It is forgotten that corn, wheat and cotton rank on the same footing as the sugar cane and not with the sugar product, which is quite as much a manufactured product as cotton or woolen goods which are protected under the Republican policy, which, moreover, aims to protect the wheat, corn or sugar cane of the farmer just as much as it does the manufactured product of the manufacturer. It has protected the rice of the south and the barley of the north, but the German tariff bill, while continuing protection to the rice of the south has diminished the protection to the barley of the north, so much so that imports of Russian barley are shortly expected at New York. The next southern industry that will probably need protection will be that of raw cotton, in view of the large quanity of that commodity that has been grown in other parts of the world, more of which is each year finding its way into our markets. When the south finds its cotton growing industry needs protection it will also find that the Republican party will be glad and willing to vote for its protection.

IMPORTERS' ADVERTISING CARDS.

The following notices, taken from advertisements of importers of foreign goods, are given a national application:

Owing to reductions in the tariff we offer greater bargains than ever.

Owing to reductions in the tariff Maine and Connecticut roll up unprecedented majorities for the party of protection.

Our prices are lowered with the tariff.

Democratic chances for carrying any state where industry formerly thrived are also considerably lowered with the tariff.

Great reductions on account of new tariff bill.

Yes, great reductions in work and in opportunities of employment; great reductions in wages and in ability to buy the cheap things so industriously advertised.

Great resumption of industry. Our store is crowded daily.

Our industries are not helped when the importer's store is crowded. It is the whirr and rattle of the loom and the spindle and the hum of productive machinery that helps our industries. Activity in the importer's shop means activity of industry in Europe, not in America.

POINTS OF DIFFERENCE.

The American sheep farmer and wool grower pays taxes for township purposes; pays taxes for county purposes; pays taxes for state purposes; contributes to the building of churches; contributes to the support of the ministry; seeks to raise and educate his children to be useful, Christian people in the world. His lands are valued at $25 to $100 per acre.

The Australian sheep grower raises wool on lands rented for a few cents per acre. He pays no township taxes; he pays no county taxes; he pays no state taxes; he pays no road or bridge taxes; he supports no church or other enlightening institution. He simply raises wool, and now under the new tariff law he comes into the American market and competes with the American farmer.

This is "tariff reform"—free wool to drive the American farmer out of business; to reduce him and his family to want; to rob him of the thousands of dollars that his sheep were worth under protection.

FREE TRADE, as advocated by the Democratic party, is for revenue only. Discarding the policy of protection to all American industries, the tariff is laid on non-competing products that the people most need, and when on competing products it is made so low as to encourage the importation of such competing products.

SOME people think that the tariff question is settled. That's where they make a mistake. It is still the liveliest kind of a live issue.

THE SOUTH FAVORED.

Special Examiners Appointed in Confederate States.

LOCHREN MAKES AN APOLOGY.

He Says He Refused to Qualify Ex-Rebel Surgeons Under a Misapprehension—A Sidelight on the Interior Department's Rulings.

Pension Commissioner Lochren some time ago wrote a letter to Representative Sayers of Texas, in reply to a request for the appointment of an ex-Confederate surgeon as an examiner under the pension office, to the effect that surgeons who had served in the Confederate army were disqualified from serving as examiners of Union veterans for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not they are entitled to pensions. Mr. Sayers sent this letter to some of his constituents in Texas, and they raised a great rumpus over it. At a meeting of ex-Confederates a resolution was passed denouncing this action of Commissioner Lochren. When this was brought to his attention the Commissioner replied that he had never written any such letter. This put Mr. Sayers in an embarrassing position, and he published the letter and compelled Mr Lochren to acknowledge his mistake.

LOCHREN APOLOGIZES.

This the commissioner did with great alacrity, and has given out an interview apologizing for having signed any such letter, asserting that he had done so under a misapprehension and in the ordinary course of business without knowing what the letter contained. He said that surgeons who served in the Confederate army were not excluded from acting as examiners under the pension office, and that he had appointed such men as surgeons to investigate the claims of Union veterans. But no such appointments were made before Hoke Smith became secretary of the interior.

This interview, taken in connection with a statement issued by Mr. Lochren in regard to the appointment of special examiners in the field to ferret out alleged frauds, throws an interesting side light on the extreme desire of this administration to please the ex-Confederates in the matter of pensions. The men who are responsible for the statements made in the president's message concerning "the well known fraudulent pensioners in every neighborhood" are these special examiners.

SOUTHERN STATES FAVORED.

The state of Alabama supplies eight of these examiners, while the state of Massachusetts furnishes one. Without going any further this contrast between the loyal state of Massachusetts, which furnished a vast army of men to put down the rebellion in the state of Alabama, where the Confederate headquarters were first located, is of itself sufficient to show how the pension office is now run. Georgia furnishes six special examiners and Connecticut one, Kentucky nine and Maine four, Mississippi six and Minnesota one. Louisiana furnishes three; South Carolina, four; Texas, nine; Virginia, eleven; Tennessee, nine; North Carolina, seven and Arkansas two. Contrast those with the following loyal states: Rhode Island, one; Wisconsin, two; New Jersey, five; Nebraska, three; Iowa, six; Colorado, one; California, four. This will account for the remarkable discovery of "frauds" and the wholesale and illegal stoppage of pensions under this administration.

WANT WAGES REDUCED.

The Philadelphia Times, realizing that under the Gorman tariff law the wages of the American workingmen are being and will continue to be reduced, foolishly attempts to justify the fact by this statement, taken from its issue of Aug. 21,1894:

"Under the new tariff it will be a perfectly fair proposition to reduce wages precisely to the extent McKinleyism raised them."

This is a little out of harmony with the statements of other free trade organs that the McKinley law did not work an increase of the wages of the American laborers, and that the Gorman law will not work a reduction of wages, but serves most admirably the purposes of convincing any doubting individual who has not yet become convinced that the McKinley law did raise wages, and that the Gorman law has reduced and will reduce, and that any further change in that law, such as is threatened in the event of Democratic success this year, will still further work reductions.

Surely no better evidence of the correctness of this fact could be desired than the admission of it by the Philadelphia Times and its lame attempt to justify the reductions under the Gorman law by the statement that the cut will not be more than was the advance under the McKinley law.

A FRAUD, SAYS SINGERLY.

Mr. Singerly, who was the Democratic candidate for governor in Pennsylvania until a short time ago, when he retired, is not one of the new converts to the free trade theory. On the contrary, he was one of the original Pennsyluania free traders, and his influence had much to do with such a spread of the theory as resulted in the Democratic victory of 1892, from which resulted the disastrous condition of the country under which the people have endured so much suffering for several years. As far back as 1886, on May 29 of that year, we find the following in the editorial columns of Mr. Singerly's paper, the Philadelphia Record:

"As between a Democratic protectionist and a Republican protectionist, other things being equal, The Record is in favor of a Republican every time. The Democratic protectionist is a fraud. The Democratic party has never admitted the right of the government to levy a protective tax. The power of taxation was conferred upon congress to raise revenue to pay the expenses of government. Whenever the power is used for any other purpose it is absurd. Judge Black was right when he declared that no man could be a protectionist and be a Democrat."

Mr. Singerly has not changed his views on this point. He is opposed to protection to American workingmen, and every vote cast for him will be safely regarded as an evidence that the man who casts it approves the same policy. That is exactly why so many Pennsylvanians who have heretofore voted the Democratic ticket will not vote it this year.

URGE your neighbor to come out and vote. If he has neglected this duty often heretofore start urging him now and have him ready on election day.

THE ISSUE IS PLAIN.

The Philadelphia Press nails Mr. Singerly to the issue from which he is trying to escape by quoting from an 1886 utterance of his newspaper that comes in very handy. The Press says:

"The esteemed Record is doing its utmost to make it appear that in a campaign for the election of governor there ought to be no tariff discussion; that the tariff opinions of a candidate for governor cannot be of any consequence. It has not always held that opinion.

"When in June, 1886, the Democrats of the state were canvassing the merits of several gentlemen as possible gubernatorial nominees The Record said:

"'It has gone out with some show of authority that Mr. Mortimer F. Elliott, of Tioga county, would allow his name to be used as a compromise candidate for governor. It it is important to know whether Mr. Elliott stands with the Democratic party or with Mr. Randall on the question of tariff reduction and revision. Democrats of Pennsylvania should run a Democrat for governor.'

"If it was important to know the tariff views of a candidate for governor eight years ago, when there was no disturbance of the country on account of the tariff and no immediate menace of it, there is far greater reason now that the country has suffered for eighteen months of Democratic administration, with its threat and purpose to wipe out protection. The people, in fact, were never so much concerned in that question, and with the exception of the issues of the war have never had a more important one.

"Mr. Singerly was not nominated for the purpose of keeping the tariff issue in the background, but rather for the purpose of obtruding it. If he represents anything in the Democratic party it is a steady advocacy of the policy of free trade. It is the only thing in which he has always been a Democrat, and most of the time for the past twelve or fifteen years he has given very little support, and sometimes very active opposition to Democratic state nominees because they were not up with him on the tariff question. He wanted to know where Mr. Elliott stood on that issue, and when Mr. Black was finally made the candidate Mr. Singerly declared he ought to be beaten because the tariff part of the platform did not suit him. There was less reason for the tariff issue that year than there is now.

"On this point Mr. Singerly's candidacy is not to be misunderstood. He is in the most radical free trade position yet reached in Pennsylvania. If it were possible for him to be elected, or to reduce the Republican majority in any significant degree, it would be heralded all over the country as Pennsylvania's desertion of protection. None would make more use of such an interpretation of the result than those who are trying to make it appear that the tariff has nothing to do with the voting in Pennsylvania this year. It has a great deal to do with it, as will be discovered when the votes are counted.

"Mr. Singerly, who has been so much dissatisfied with previous Democratic candidates for governor because they were not altogether of his way of thinking on the tariff question, now has a candidate whose tariff views he cannot question. Let him stand up to his candidate's record."

EFFECTS OF THE NEW TARIFF.

In considering the possible effects of this new tariff it is well to remember that our bonded warehouses were crammed with goods awaiting its passage. So it has been with every great reduction of our tariff duties. Always the foreign producer has taken for granted that his opportunity is come, and that the markets of America are delivered over to him. In 1783 the conclusion of peace with England abolished the restrictions the war had laid on importations. The country was deluged with English goods which had to be sold below cost. Domestic industry was at a standstill. The peace of 1815 terminated the double duties of the tariff of 1812, and the restrictions of war upon commerce. We then saw another deluge of English goods. These also had to be sold at a sacrifice, and Brougham said this was no loss to England, as it served to to kill off the American manufactures "which the war had forced into existence, contrary to the natural course of things." The reduction of duties in 1835, 1847 and 1857 caused a great increase in importations. How directly such changes work on imports was seen in the fall of 1892, when great quantities of goods were rushed in to evade the higher duties of the McKinley tariff.

Before the Gorman bill became a law the British exporter had been keeping the quantity of goods he placed on our market down to a minimum. He sent us less, and of what he sent all that was not needed at once he has kept in bond until the new law went into operation. But he has not made less, nor has he less to sell. On the contrary, in the depressed condition of his European and Asiatic trade he has a great mass of goods on his hands, which are coming to America. In the present state of trade we become a "sacrifice market" for the surplus of British goods. And for this the new tariff is admirably suited. It levies ad valorem instead of specific duties, so that the duties will fall with every fall in prices, and thus diminish to a shadow the little protection the new tariff offers.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND ought to feel better. He is now in as good a position in New York as Mr. Harrity is in Pennsylvania with Commodore Singerly as the Democratic candidate for governor.

MR. SINGERLY has become a candidate again, but after the November vote is counted he will be well over the habit.

MR SINGERLY AS A PROPHET.

Mr. Singerly, who so unceremoniously retired himself from the head of the Democratic ticket after the defeat his candidate, McAleer, suffered in the Third congressional district, ought to have shown as much foresight before the defeat of McAleer as he did when he learned of the election of Cleveland in 1892, and immediately thereafter predicted that an end to the work of raising wages had come. On Nov. 10, 1892, a few days after the election of President Cleveland the second time, Mr. Singerly said in his paper, the Philadelphia Record, as follows:

"NO, NO; NO MORE 'RISE IN WAGES.'"

Mr. Singerly seems to have understood immediately what the result of the 1892 election meant, and how well he understood is shown by the conditions since that time. There has indeed been no "rise" in wages since that time, but there have been plenty of reductions.

The quotation, here presented, that means so much and proves so conclusively that Mr. Singerly advocates free trade with a thorough understanding of the fact that the election of a president and a congress favoring free trade means no more increase of wages, can be found in any file of The Record of November 10, 1892.

It may be argued that the lower wages to be earned under free trade will go further in purchases, and that the workingman will gain as a consumer all, and, more than all, he loses as a producer. First of all, if free trade means for him no employment at all, his wages will not go far in buying even Manchester cotton and German hardwares. If these things are to come in like a flood they will cease to be made at home in the same quantities, and many of those who are now making them will be thrown out of work. Their free trade friends will thus have given some of our workmen time to meditate on the maxim: "Buy in the cheapest market and sell in the dearest." They will soon see that the cheapest market offers no great advantage for buying when you have nothing to buy with.

The Next Congress.

The present United States Senate contains 44 Democrats, 36 Republicans and 5 Populists, with three vacancies, and the present House contains 218 Democrats, 127 Republicans and 11 Populists. The Democrats have exactly one-half of the members of the Senate and not a majority over all, while in the House they have a majority of 80 over the combined vote of Republican and Populists.

The next Senate will not be Democratic; it will not be Republican; it will be controlled by the Populists. It is possible that the Republicans, counting those who openly adhere to the party, and the Populists who have decided Republican proclivities, may have a narrow majority of the Senate, but it is evident that neither party will be in positive control of the Senate in the next Congress.

The next House is not likely to be Democratic; it is probable that it will be Republican; it may be controlled by the Populists. In addition to the ordinary causes which generally bring an adverse Congress to the administration in power for the last two years of a term, the great financial and industrial depression of the last year or more is reasonably certain to cost the party in many votes in every section of the country. There is every reason, therefore, to assume that the new House will not be harmony with the national administration.

Another question that may be one of vital importance is involved in the election of the next Congress. In the present confusion of parties the next Presidential election may be thrown into the House, where each State would cast but one vote for President regardless of the number of its delegation in Congress, and that vote dictated by a majority of the delegation. A delegation equally divided politically would be unable to cast any vote for President, but an election can be effected only by the vote of the majority of all the States.

A careful review of the situation as it appears to-day would lead any dispassionate observer to the conclusion that the Republicans are likely to control the delegation of 24 of the 45 States in the next Congress. Utah will be admitted by that time, and is likely to have a Democratic Congressman and Democratic Senators, but it is not certain that, if Democratic, they will not be so tinctured with Populism as to make them unreliable as a party factor.

Hastings Makes Four Speeches.

Philadeldhia, October 26.—General Hastings opened his campaign in Philadelphia to-night with four speeches at as many different meetings in the southern part of the city. The meetings were all crowded and the protection doctrine as expounded by General Hastings met with the hearty approval of the audiences. General Hastings's speeches were all in the same line. He contrasted the policies of the two parties and advocated protection.

"The time for argument is almost past. No intelligent citizen will misconceive the effect of his vote. The McKinley law did not injure a single industry or interest in the country. The best proof of this lies in the fact that the year 1890 was the most prosperous business year in the country's history."

Want Their Wages Restored.

Cuffalo, Oct. 26.—The employes of the Western New York and Pennsylvania railway, held a meeting last night to decide what action should be taken towards securing a restoration of the ten per cent. reduction which was made seven months ago. The men decided not to strike, but to seek the restoration by bringing suit in the courts. It was unanimously decided that the men should sue the road on this proposition. The men claim to have a president in the case of the Omaha and St. Louis railway, which road was compelled by the courts to restore a reduction.

VIGOROUS HEALTH FOR MEN

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE.

When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

A New College Commencement.

If the programme adopted by the committee appointed to consider the subject is approved by the faculty and corporation of Yale, that university will celebrate its next annual commencement by exercises changed radically from what they have been for many years past. The departure will be so great that old graduates coming back after a number of years absence will hardly be able to recognize that they are attending commencement. They will miss the stately dullness of past years, and while their common sense will approve the change it will take a short time for them to adapt themselves to the new order of things. But to the general public the advantage of the modification will be apparent at once.

It has long been evident to intelligent observers, whether college graduates or not, that there must be some change in the annual commencement exercises if they were to be rescued from degenerating into utter dullness and contempt. The practice of conferring commencement honors on those undergraduates who had secured the highest standing in class room exercises has long since lost its significance. It was once taken as a reward of merit and as a recognition by the college authorities and the public in general of the scholarship and ability of the speakers and of their probable success in future life. It has no longer any such meaning. Any one conversant with college students knows that the marking system in use in most colleges is no adequate criterion of the brain power or intellectual attainments of undergraduates and that it is impossible to devise any marking system that will be a correct test.

Commencement honors have however, generally been based upon these recitation marks, and the consequence has often been that the real men of ability in the class have been relegated to sit silent on a back seat to listen to some "dig" who by his talent for memorizing has reached the requisite number of marks to entitle him to a commencement speech. In this way valedictorians have been made and have strutted their brief hour before admiring friends who showered them with bouquets galore, and then they have sunk back to an utterly dead level of life. The reason is that they had not the originality, strength of character, force of will and earnestness of purpose to lift themselves up. Yale University tried some years ago to remedy this disparity between real merit and commencement honors by making the speaking on that day a literary contest among the best writers in the class and limiting the general speaking to salutatory and valedictory addresses.

Frauds that Must be Stopped.

The attention of the state authorities has recently been called to the numerous frauds and impositions which are being practiced upon many citizens of the state by foreign building and loan associations whose principal headquarters are outside the state over which the authorities have no control. The most of these companies have been made by people in western Pennsylvania and in the vicinity of Bradford where these associations have the largest membership.

The plan of these corporations is to register in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth and pay a registration fee of $10.25 which entitles them to do business in the state. Local organizations are then effected through the state and local boards of directors chosen, whose duties are simply nominal, but who are supposed to give them standing in the community. A local treasurer is appointed to collect the monthly dues and forward them to the home office.

Complaint is made by those who have taken loans from the association and given mortgages on their property to secure them that as soon as the mortgage is given it is transferred to a third party who in a short time begins proceedings for a foreclosure and the unsuspecting victim discovers that he has no defense to the mortgage and his property is swept away. In New York and other adjoining states laws have been passed forbidding all foreign building and loan associations to transact business within their borders. The number of these associations doing business in Pennsylvania is constantly increasing, and it is likely that an effort will be made to secure the passage of a law by the next legislature which will guarantee greater protection to their shareholders in this state. If they are allowed to go on as they have it is feared the frauds may become as great as those practiced by the "death-bed insurance" companies which were throttled several years ago by the state authorities.

A Fitting Memorial for Curtin.

The old soldiers of Centre county have inaugurated a movement to erect a $25,000 monument to the late Gov. Andrew G. Curtin in the public square in Bellefonte. No doubt there should be a fitting monument erected to the memory of the great War Governor in the place where he so long made his home, and the people who were his neighbors will see that such is the case. But the whole State claims an interest in the fame of its noble executive, who was the veritable right arm of Lincoln, and all its people will want a share in properly commemorating his memory. The memorial should be a grand one and unmistakably exhibit the fact that the vast services rendered by Andrew G. Curtin to the State and Nation in the time of sorest need are properly appreciated by the people of the former. There is but one appropriate place for such a memorial and that is at the capital of the Commonwealth. Let it be placed within the limits of old Camp Curtin, where he met face to face so many thousands of gallant sons of the Keystone State and sent them forth with words of cheer and with promises always kept to do battle for the Nation.—Pittsburg Times.

We appreciate the interest shown by our esteemed contemporary, but we will not yield on the place of location. Bellefonte, where Gov. Curtin was born, where he preferred to live all his life, and where he died in peace, should be regarded the State over as the only appropriate place in which to erect such a monument. And the place proposed to erect it is right within the shadows of the stately mansion where the venerable governor spent the last years of his life.

The Fools That Are Not Dead.

The crop of gullible people who are ready to part with their money at the request of some glib-tongued adventurer who promises them fabulous returns upon small investments, is always a big one and the exposure of rascally get rich-quick schemes causes no diminution in the supply of victims. The fate of the short term orders, which came down with a crash within a period so recent that no one with a memory can have forgotten their losses or the folly which led to them, has not deterred people from putting their money into new schemes quite as foolish. The knaves have only to call their old swindles by new names and the fools are ready to part with their money again.

The discretionary pool is the name under which a lot of swindlers in Pittsburg have secured several millions of dollars from 50,000 residents of that city and vicinity and of various parts of the State. This is the same swindle that was exposed in The Times some months ago. The depositors placed their money with the alleged brokers to invest at their discretion and they seem to have invested the most of it where the depositors will never see it again. Of course, there is a great howl and the swindled depositors are very indignant at the losses which are direct result of their own folly. Warrants are out for some of the swindlers and threats of lynching are indulged in, but the chief swindlers are beyond the reach of harm from warrants and lynchers.

The law must be invoked and the scoundrels punished if they can be caught, but the majority of the victims deserve to lose their money for their folly in supposing that any legitimate investment will return the enormous profits promised by the swindlers. It seems a useless task for newspapers and officers of the law to expose the various swindles devised by the knaves to gull the fools, for the fools learn nothing by the exposures. They are just as ready to invest their hard-earned dollars in a new swindle that promises a profit of 200 or 300 per cent, as they were to invest in the old and exploded ones.

A New Telephone Company.

Charters were granted last week to the Electric Messenger Company, of Pittsburg, capital $25,000, formed to operate telegraph and telephone lines in Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Bucks, Berk, Butler, Blair, Cambria, Crawford, Centre Cumberland, Chester, Clearfield, Clarion, Delaware, Dauphin, Erie, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Huntingdon, Indiana, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Montgomery, Mifflin, Mercer, Philadelphia, Perry, Schuylkill, Venango, Washington, Westmoreland and York counties, Pennsylvania, and in and through the States of New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia. The incorporators all reside in Pittsburg.

Guards for Express Trains.

The leading express companies are reported to be alarmed at the increase in train robbery. They have reason to be, and if their alarm becomes so great as to lead them to cease sending money and valuable packages by passenger trains or to send them on no trains at all unless strongly guarded, train robbery will soon become less of a feature and the nerves of railway passengers will experience relief. The contents of the express cars are the motive and object of nearly all train robberies. The express car always receives the first attention and usually the sole attention of the robbers. The passengers are seldom robbed, and we doubt if a train would ever be held up for the chance of gain from the passengers' pocketbooks alone.

Train robberies would cease if an adequate guard were taken along on each train to protect the valuables in the express car. It would not require a large guard if the right kind of men were selected. Two bold armed men held up and robbed the train at Quantico, near Washington. If these men had known that two armed guards were on the train they would never have meddled with it. The facility with which trains are robbed incite frequent repetitions of the crime. A singe case of successful and bloody resistance by an armed guard would be a great blow to the train robbing industry. The knowledge that express trains carried a few extra men who know how to shoot and are ready to shoot would protect trains everywhere without a trigger ever being pulled.

Diphtheria Closes Schools.

The Williamsport Sun says summary action was taken at a special meeting of the board of education of South Williamsport, Wednesday afternoon, resulting in the closing for an indefinite period three of the five public schools in the borough on account of the prevalence of diphtheria. These schools are the High school, Central avenue and Maynard street. The two schools remaining open are the Mountain avenue and Main street buildings. The malady has prevailed to some extent for several months, but only within the past few weeks has the disease taken a virulent form, resulting fatally to a majority of those afflicted. At present there are twelve or fifteen serious cases, eight of which Dr. Charles Schneider is treating. The doctor is also a member of the borough board of health and it was by his advice the three schools were closed.

Clearfield County Pensioners.

The Pittsburg Post for some time past has been publishing lists of pensioners in various parts of the state, and finds 787 names on the roll of honor in Clearfield county who receive $38,839 every three months. Ninety-eight reside in DuBois and receive $3,250; eighty-five reside in Clearfield and receive $3,235; forty-four in Curwensville and receive $1,488 and twenty-nine reside in Houtzdale and receive $738.

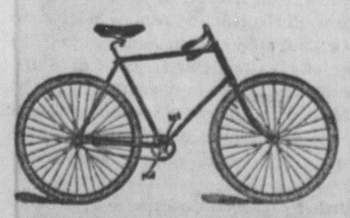
The Light that Never Fails



The UNION SPECIAL

THE "Union" is what Tyler and Saeger, the world's champions ride to-day. They ride the best, why not you? The best is always the cheapest, especially in bicycles. It means REST for you, if you ride—UNION SPECIAL—after being accustomed to a heavy wheel.

Wheels for sale, exchange and hire, at McCalmont & Co.'s. Prices low and payments easy.

They Are All Good Wheels.

In a local item in a Williamsport paper of an accident in which a section of the stand fell on which were 300 persons, the following words of praise are recorded in favor of the Union Special:

"All of those who saw the section of stand fall at the bicycle roads, with about 300 persons, were not aware that three bicycles were underneath, two being Union Specials, and a road wheel of another make. While the latter was made a subject for the repair shop, the Unions had only two wooden rims broken and later was ridden two events by McDuffie and Gardner, in the race in which McDuffie and Gardner came down in a heap, and one would naturally suppose that the wheels were wrecked; not so of the Union. It has often been said Unions never break and after what we saw yesterday we believe so. It is a fact to-day that Sanger, Tyler and McDuffie are riding the same wheels they took out of the factory at the beginning of the season, a record envied by all other manufacturers."

ITALIANS RESENT INSULT.

They leave the Democratic Party and Join the Republicans.

The Italian Democrats of the Second, Third and Fourth Wards of Philadelphia, assembled last Friday evening at Beneficial Hall, Eighth and Marriot Streets to give vent to their indignation over what they term an insult applied to their nationality by a speaker at a recent Democratic mass meeting. The hall was filled almost to suffocation, and about the doors was gathered a great crowd unable to gain entrance and clamoring for admission to the closely packed structure.

The meeting was opened with the election of Frank Bartolucci as chairman; Guiseppi Bruno, as vice-president, and Carlo Colompo, as secretary. Mr. Bartolucci stated that he was not present at the meeting for political purposes, but because of a fellow feeling for his countrymen and a respect for his mother country. Pasqualle Laugone, a Democratic Election Inspector in the Second Ward, was the first speaker. He related the story of the alleged insult and said he had been a Democratic voter for eight years, but after such business at the hands of the party of his faith he had decided to support the Republicans and oppose to the end of his days the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Colombo, the next speaker, said the Italians, whether Republicans or Democrats, should condemn any party when such a man as the one who had given voice to such sentiments was prominent in its councils.

The following resolutions were then read and adopted unanimously:—

Whereas, At a mass meeting held on Thursday, October 15, at Reliance Hall, Eighth and Enu Streets, under the auspices of the Democratic City Campaign Committee, David F. Fortney, Democratic Postmaster of Bellefonte, Pa., one of the speakers took occasion in his remarks to allude to "dirty Hungarians and greasy Italians" being imported into this city; therefore, be it resolved, that we, the Italian-American Democrats, in mass meeting assembled, do unqualifiedly denounce the Democratic party in Philadelphia for permitting one of its agents to thus apply to honest Italian labor and insult unwarranted and without foundation whatever.

Resolved. That we call upon the patriotic Italian Democrats in Philadelphia to show their resentment of this insult to our nationality by denouncing the party which thus grossly attacks honest labor and resent the same by casting our ballots at the coming election in favor of the candidates on the Republican ticket.

It is Free, But Worth a Fortune.

And it is worth a fortune because it is the means of giving health and strength to the weak and complaining—to you, reader. The following splendid proposition is made by Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. Write him a letter, tell him just how you feel, and he will answer it, free of charge, explaining your case so thoroughly that you will at once understand exactly what your complaint is. Every letter receives his most careful attention, he explains every symptom, telling just what to do to be cured, and for all this he charges nothing.

He is the discoverer of that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which is doing such enormous good among the suffering. This is the opportunity of a lifetime for everyone, especially those living at a distance from large cities, to consult, entirely free, the most eminent and successful of specialists. No fee to pay and no journey to make. The doctor makes a speciality of treating patients through letter correspondence, and you cannot do better than write him at once. You will without doubt be made strong and well by doing so. Thousands of others have. Don't delay.

A DEMORALIZED and desperate Democracy is already on the run. As proof of this, we call attention to the tall lies they are telling our idle working men out of work and money, they say. "You are working and have plenty of money."

THE Republican who cuts any part of his ticket this year makes the mistake of his life. Vote for every man on it from Hastings to Decker.

HUNDREDS of men are out of work in this county while our smart democratic politicians stand up and tell then they are all working.

NO EQUAL IN THE WORLD!

Strong and Powerful Words from Those who Know Whereof they Speak. Being Prominent People, Everybody Knows their words are True.

HON. WM. J. FISHER.

More wonderful grow the cures, and more noted and prominent those who have been cured by that greatest medicine in the world. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

The strength of these splendid testimonials coming from well-known persons, gives to them such convincing power that the foremost men and women in the land are taking it because they know it will do exactly what people say it will.

One of the best known and honored men, Hon. Wm. J. Fisher, of Whallonsburg, N. Y, speaks as follows about himself and his estimable wife.

"Nine years ago I had malarial fever which developed into a severe case of Bright's disease. I saw a celebrated specialist who said I could live but a short time. I employed several eminent physicians. They all said I had Bright's disease, but none of them cured me.

"My wife, who was using Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy with great benefit, advised me to try it. I commenced using it and almost immediately began to improve. I took four bottles and was then entirely cured and made a well man in every respect. I tell you it was wonderful, this medicine doing what no other medicines or physicians could do. I don't wonder it has got the name of being a wonderful remedy.

"My wife has been troubled with erysipelas, salt rheum and nervous debility. She has tried several medicines but Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has done her more good than anything she has ever taken. She is rapidly getting well under its use. We both consider this medicine the best remedy in the world.

The wonderful cures performed by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy have become so wide-spread that everybody takes it. The best physicians everywhere advise and recommend its use, for they know its great and remarkable power to cure. Use it if you wish to get back your health.

Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St. New York City. If you take this medicine you can consider yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that this remedy will cure, possessed by no other medicine in the world.

Much attention has been attracted by the great offer of the Southern Pacific Company of New Orleans. They are making a free distribution of books to advertise their wonderful new train now running from New Orleans to the Pacific Coast, and which is said to be the finest, fastest and most luxuriously appointed train ever constructed. The train consists of a composite car, in which is embraced a barber shop, bath room, library, cafe and smoking parlor, a dining car in which meals are served at all hours, day or night, passengers paying only for what they order; also, a full complement of Pullman's latest and most magnificent drawing-room sleeping cars. The speed of this railway wonder, covering the vast distance between New Orleans and Los Angeles in 60 hours, and to San Faancisco in 77 hours, has never been attempted or equaled. Contrary to the usual practice of other great railway lines, no expense will be incurred other than the customary firstclass ticket and sleeping car fare for traveling on this superb train.

"Now westward Sol has sent the richest beams of noon's high glory."

And much of civilized America is following rapidly in his train, seeking homes, wealth and health in California.

The great Sunset Route, Southern Pacific, is now the favorite one to those familiar with the different lines of Western travel; and its management, gratefully recognizing the ready appreciation which the traveling public has shown their excellant fast train service, embracing through Pullman and Tourist sleeping car facilities in the past, and which will be continued from Cincinnatti, Chicago and New Orleans, have determined to outdo the most splendid railway achievements, and to provide their patrons with a combination of luxury and comfort hitherto unequaled. To this end the magnificent train, "Sunset Limited," taking its name from the solar luminary, whose path across valley and plain and over hill and mountain it follows with the speed of the wind, has been put on between New Orleans, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Leaving both terminals every Thursday during the season of 1894-95, passing through the balmiest regions in all America, delightful even in January, this "fleeing city" covers gulf to coast in a trifle over two days. Every comfort of home is found in the luxurious vestibuled coaches—dining, sleeping and composite—which comprise "Limited Sunset," and the scenery along this line is unsurpassed. For further particulars, address S. F. B. Morse Gen'l Pass'r Agent, New Orleans, La.

DAVID F. FORTNEY P. M.

REV. I. W. HILL.

Pastor Methodist Church, Accord, N. Y., Says Cancerous Diseases Can be Cured.

ACCORD, N. Y.—Under the old school method it is believed that any disease of cancerous growth could never be cured. The surgeon's knife was resorted to, but the old trouble was sure to break out again.

Since the discovery of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, all this has been changed—the action of Favorite Remedy upon the system leaves no trace of poison in the blood, the seeds of disease are expelled and lost health restored.

A notable case of the efficacy of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is that of the Rev. I. W. Hill, of this town. Some years ago he was suffering with a cancer of long standing, on his lip, and finally concluded to have it removed. In speaking of his case Pastor Hill said: "About three weeks previous to having the operation performed, I purchased Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and continued taking it for some after the cancer was removed. Ten long years have passed since then, and no trace of the ugly thing has returned. I speak with knowledge in the highest terms of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy as being able to cure the troubles for which it is prepared."

One of our local physicians said, in explaining the demand for Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy: "It acts as a nerve and blood food, and to my knowledge it has made many permanent cures for nervous debility, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, rheumatism, and of the sickness peculiar to women, where other treatments have failed. For headaches, constipation and run-down condition, one often suffers with, there is nothing else so good."

Harper's Magazine.

Henry Loomis Nelson contributes to the November Harper's a delightful article, entitled "At the Capital of the Young Republic," in which he offers glimpses of official life at Washington at the beginning of the century, investing with all the charm of witty and vivid narration a period of real interest. The initial article in the same number has also an American theme, and treats of by-gone days—the days when sea-robbers of New York carried on what they termed the Red Sea Trade, regarding it as a business rather than a crime; and "agreeable and companionable pirates" (in a town that may still, unfortunately, count among its officials "agreeable and companionable" persons who regard robbery as a business rather than any crime), are described by Thomas A. Janvier.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.

As a pictorial history of our own times, Harper's Weekly is much relied upon by its English and other foreign contemporaries, extracts from the Weekly (with due acknowledgment, of course) being made by the illustrated press of other lands with increasing frequency. But not less care is devoted by the publishers to fiction, as appears from their announcement of some of the features that the paper will contain in the immediate future. On October 27th will begin a two-part story, entitled "The Judgment Books," by E. F. Benson, author of "Dodo"; November 10th begins a four-part story, entitled "The Parasite," by A. Conan Doyle, illustrated by Howard Pyle; November 3d there will be a four-page supplement devoted to the Loan Exhibition of Ladies' Portraits, at the National Academy of Design; November 10th a four-page supplement devoted to the new north wing of the new Metropolitan Museum of Art; November 17th will be the Horse-show number, with an illustrated cover. From time to time there will be interesting contributions on topics connected with the present conflict in the east.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Catching a Slanderer.

It was a matter of course that General Hastings was not going to let any charge affecting his personal character go unacted upon. He has very promptly proceeded against Francis J. O'Connor, formerly Democratic District Attorney of Cambria County, who in a public speech a few nights ago charged General Hastings with having used his position at Johnstown after the great flood of 1889 to enrich himself.

It was a villainous charge, which could come only from a depraved mind, and before General Hastings has finished with the matter O'Connor will wish many times over that he had never been born. The conduct of General Hastings at Johnstown during the period of the lamentable disaster was absolutely and in every particular unimpeachable, and so thoroughly has this been certified to by Democrats and Republicans alike that the Philadelphia "Times," knowing the facts, and Democratic as it is, was very prompt to repel the false and shameless charge which the Democratic ex-official of Cambria county has made. The "Times" was manly and just in that.

But General Hastings is not the one to be content with newspaper defense in such a case, as O'Connor will ascertain. His services at Johnstown were rendered in the cause of humanity. He sought in every way in which his ability could be employed to be of some assistance to the stricken people in the unfortunate valley. He worked without the thought or hope of reward in any shape, and he achieved the most important results, which were appreciated by the people, who have on several occasions since testified their regard for him. It was a time to try any man's heroic qualities, and General Hastings, as he always does, measured up fully to every requirement of the great emergency.

The charge that he profited so much as by one penny is as base and criminal a lie as was ever set afloat. Had he been one to seek aggrandizement in such cases he could not have gained anything in this instance. He did not handle any of the money that was contributed to the relief of the sufferers. It in no way passed through his hands or came to him. Every dollar of it was expended through a regularly constituted and organized relief committee composed of citizens of the State of the highest reputation. Some of these were Democrats and some Republicans, and all of either party who had any active participation in Johnstown affairs will testify that it was not possible for any one to divert a dollar of the fund from its legitimate purpose.

In all the history of relief funds, probably, none was ever more cleanly and correctly handled than the Johnstown fund. General Hastings made great personal sacrifice during the long time he was at the scene of the disaster, and though he was continued there as Adjutant General under the authority of the State, he refuses even to accept the pay to which he would have been entitled as such officer in active service. O'Connor's shameless and baseless accusation will fall harmless upon General Hastings, but it will forever disgrace the man who has made it.—Press.

Haunted.

A haunted house in these practical and unromantic days is something of a rarity but an individual haunted with the idea that his ailment is incurable is a personage frequently met with. Disbelief in the ability of medicine to cure is only a mild form of monomania, although in some cases repeated failures to obtain relief from many different sources would almost seem to justify the doubt. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has demonstrated its ability to overcome dyspepsia, constipation, liver and kidney trouble, malarial complaints and nervousness, and its accorded achievements in the curative line ought at least to warrant its trial by anyone troubled with either of the above ailments, even although his previous efforts to obtain remedial aid have been fruitless. Used with persistence, the Bitters will conquer the most obstinate cases.

Murder by Wholesale.

The dynamite outrage at Laurel Run, which by happy chance only cost the lives of three victims when sixty were intended, illustrates the deadliness of dynamite in the hands of conscienceless criminals, actuated either by greed or revenge. The invention of nitro-glycerine, which constitutes the explosive principle of dynamite, and the ease with which it may be manufactured, purchased or stolen, has placed in the hands of that portion of the criminal class who do not hesitate at murder, a weapon out of all proportion in power to any defense which the ordinary citizen possesses. The more solid the structure under which it is exploded the greater its destructiveness, and those familiar with the powers of electricity may explode it in perfect safety to themselves.

Fortunately the political Anarchist who blows up public buildings, opera houses, cafes and hotels out of sheer hatred to the existing order of things has cut a very small figure in this country, but safe-burglars, train-robbers and other members of the thieving class have resorted to dynamite in a good many business, and the use of the deadly explosive for criminal purposes is certainly on the increase. The Laurel Run explosion shows how it may be made an agent of wholesale murder where the motive exists and men are found depraved enough to send scores of human beings into eternity without a moments warning. There seems to be some doubt whether this particular explosion was prompted by greed or by the race antipathy which exists among the mining employes of the section. But whether the perpetrators of the crime were thievish tramps or revengeful members of a different race of laborers, the danger to the unsuspecting, unconscious victims was the same.

The increasing frequency of the use of this powerful explosive for criminal purposes will soon compel the American people, through their constituted authorities, to adopt protective measures more efficient than any now afforded by law and the police forces employed either in city or country. Just what direction legislation for this purpose shall take is not yet apparent but the existence of a class of men willing to use dynamite for the wholesale destruction of human life will certainly render more effective protection than can now be afforded necessary if all the tramps in the country have to be exterminated and the quarreling aliens banished from our shores.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"I feel it a duty to state what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was almost blind, being compelled to stay in a darkened room on account of inflammation of the eyes. I also suffered with running sores on my body. I was in terrible condition. My mother tried every thing she knew about and I was attended by two doctors but without helping me. Finally Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I had not taken two bottles before I began to get better. The inflammation left my eyes and the sores healed, and the result was that

At that time I was only twelve years old; now I am nineteen and I have not since been troubled with my eyes or noticed any sign of a return of the sores on my body. A Monument to Curtin.

There would be eminent fitness in erecting to the late Governor Curtin a monument worthy of the distinction he achieved in the great cause of preserving the unity of the Republic. Such a monument should be erected in this city, that during all the trying times of the war was the great centre of loyal devotion to the government. There would be nothing invidious in thus selecting Governor Curtin as the man to whom an enduring monument should be erected as among the greatest of our civil heroes of the great war of defense of free institutions. This monument should stand upon one of the corners of City Hall Square, and on another of the corners should be placed a like monument to General Hartranft, who stands out over all as the greatest of our Pennsylvania soldiers from civil life.

It is common immediately after the death of a man who has filled a high measure of distinction, for many to propose at once to erect a monument to his memory. In most of such cases an organization is not effected while the interest is fresh in the minds of the people, and the theme perishes in indifference or forgetfulness. The only way that a timely monument can be erected to a man like Governor Curtin is to create a thoroughly organized effort to accomplish the puapose. That once wisely done, the great labor is performed. Whenever any proper and responsible organization shall assume the task of erecting a monument to Governor Curtin in this city, the effort will be responded to heartily and generously. It should be done by an organization composed of soldiers and citizens, and it should be done at an early day. The devotion to Curtin is not likely to perish speedily, but the sooner the effort is made the more easily will its purpose be accomplished.

There will be a monument erected over the grave of Curtin at Bellefonte. The people of his mountain home and his neighbors who throng its fruitful valleys will not be content that his tomb shall be left without some enduring mark of the exceptional devotion of his neighbors to him personally, and of their pride in his great achievements. This monument should not be erected by the citizens of Bellefonte and neighborhood. It is the most fitting of all places for the tens of thousands of soldiers' orphans and their soldier friends to place an enduring testimony of their gratitude and affection for the man who conceived and carried into successful operation the Soldiers' Orphan Schools of the State. They stand out to-day as the most beneficent creation of humanity ever presented by any State or by any civilization, and his grave should be the place for the soldiers' orphans of the State to testify their gratitude to their greatest of benefactors.

An inconsiderable subscription from each one would erect a grand monument to Curtin at his mountain home. Many would gladly contribute $5, others less sums down even to dimes from the orphans who are yet in the schools and unable to earn money, for all certainly will want to give their mite to this monument. How this movement should be organized we do not venture to suggest, but that it should be organized at an early day, and that it would be eminently successful if well organized, does not admit of doubt. Whatever other monuments may be erected to Governor Curtin, the one that would stand out as the noblest of all would be that erected by the soldiers' orphans of Pennsylvania to the one man who made them the wards of the Commonwealth.—Philadelphia Times.

The School Appropriation.

The department of public instruction has issued warrants for about $4,000,000 of the annual appropriation of $5,500,000 for support of the public schools of the commonwealth. Pittsburg, Allegheny, Scranton and other large districts have not received their share of the appropriation and will not until the smaller districts have been paid. Philadelphia has received one-third of the amount to which it is entitled. The appropriation is being paid out at the rate of $200,000 a week and it is expected that the amount will have been disbursed before the close of November.

Wreck Near Peale.

A freight wreck occurred near Peale Monday night on the Beech Creek railroad. Several cars were badly broken up. Four tramps were riding on the train at the time. Three of them were killed and one was badly injured. The tramps are supposed to have been burglars, as a kit of burglars' tools and several revolvers were found near their dead bodies. Their names could not be learned. Traffic was delayed about two hours before the track was cleared.

An Error in Transcribing.

Harrisburg, Oct. 30.—Owing to an error in the transcribing of the supplement of 1893 to the marriage license act of 1885, the supplement does not go into effect until Oct. 1, 1895. It was clearly the intention of the author of the bill that it should take effect Oct. 1, 1833, but the transcribing clerk made the mistake of writing "5" for "3," and the result is the delay of two years in the operation of the supplement. The error was discovered shortly after the legislature adjourned, but it was then too late to rectify the mistake. The original bill on file at the state department fixes Oct. 1, 1895, as the date upon which the supplement shall go into effect.

Remedy for Diphtheria.

A correspondent of the Altoona Tribune says: It may not be known in the profession at large, but we have in the bi-chloride of mercury a remedy that will cure three fourths of all cases of diphtheria if properly administered. It is not a dangerous remedy, can be used by any person, and will kill the germs of diphtheria in twenty-four hours. Very seldom that the second child will get the disease where the bi-chloride is used in a family.

OF MONTANA.

Capital $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares of $1 par value each.

Non-assessable forever.

This company owns two gold mines located in a county which produced $40,000,000 in gold in six years. Has 45 acres of virgin land. Has 500 feet of underground work in shape of shafts and tunnels. Has ore in sight worth $100 per ton. Has assays from $25 to $1,500 per ton. Has shipped ore netting $36 per ton. Has such a small capitalization, only 300,000 shares and not 2,000,000 shares as other companies.

The company intends to sink a shaft through this rich $100 ore vein to a depth of several hundred feet, in order to be able to produce largely for the benefit of the stockholders which will get this profit in large monthly dividends. Hence the company offers a small amount of its stock at the extremely low price of 35 cents a share.

These shares are the investment on the financial market to-day and are better than Government Bonds as they will pay bigger interest.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Politics Naturally Causes a Drop in the Country's Business.

New York, October 26.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Engrossing political excitement in many of the states causes a natural slackening in some kinds of business. But on the whole business indications are rather more favorable than they were a week ago. Gold exports have ceased, quite a number of mills have gone into operation and the demand for products, if not equal to that of prosperous years, is better than it has been most of the time this year. The prices of farm products do not improve much, and there are still some strikers to resist reduction of wages, so that the purchasing power of the people cannot have materially increased, but there is a more hopeful spirit which prompts greater activity. On the other hand, the record of past transactions is somewhat less favorable than of late. Payments through the principal clearing houses throughout the country show a decrease of ½ per cent., compared with last year, and a decrease of 21.9 of last year, compared with the same week in 1892, the decrease for the four weeks being 23.8 per cent. The stock market has been remarkably stagnant and the average of railroad stocks has declined fifty-three cents per share, while trust stocks have advanced thirty-one cents per share. Pending suits regarding the trusts have little influence. Railroad earnings in October have been 3.8 per cent. less than last year and 11.6 per cent. less than in 1892. But details are given showing that the loss, compared with last year, is due to the enormous passenger business near the end of the World's Fair.

In iron and steel the west shows weakness, while eastern markets show more encouragement. Nothing of consequence is doing in rails, the deliveries for the year to October 1 being only 510,000 tons, much below ordinary requirements for renewals alone. In structural work some moderate contracts are reported, but bar iron is extremely dull, and it is reported that the low prices reported last week, ninety-five cents for iron and $1 for steel, have been shaded in some transactions. There is decline in wire, $1.90 being quoted for galvanized barbed and $22.50 for wire rods. The best feature is that the heavy increase in the output of pig iron does not yet seem to overload the markets, and there are rather less signs of pressure to sell than of late.

It is still as it has been for some months, a very encouraging fact that the volume of commercirl failures is small. Reports for the three weeks of October cover liabilities of only $5,639,741, of which $2,629,671 were of manufacturing and $2,951,567 of trading concerns. The failures for the week were 231 in the United States against 352 last year, and 52 in Canada against 44 last year.

Silent as the Grave.

Washington, Oct., 26.—No authoritative information can be obtained here respecting the direct question as to the president's purpose to write, or not to write, a letter announcing his desire that all Democrats should earnestly support the Democratic state ticket in New York. Nevertheless it is the opinion of many of his friends that he will not in any way interfere in the New York campaign.

With reference to the president's registering or to voting, one of his closest friends made the statement to-day that Mr. Cleveland had no legal residence in New York and could not lawfully register or vote there. Mr. Cleveland himself, it is understood, has said that his legal residence is in Washington. It is said further that at the expiration of Mr. Cleveland's present term he will not again take up his residence in New York. This statement was made by him some months ago and at that time he had not fully determined as to where he would make his future home.

A Story With a Moral.

Frank Herdic, who is well known to the sporting fraternity all over the country, has just parted with a hundred dollars in the cause of temperance in accordance with a promise made eleven years ago. At that time Mr. Herdic was a patron of Johnsson's Hotel, which stood where now is the Reading Terminal.

One day his attention was attracted to a bright-faced little boy around the bar room who wasbeing petted by some of the men, one of whom offered him a glass of beer. The boy refused it and Herdic felt so pleased that he at once made the promise that he would give him a hundred dollars if he abstained from drink until he attained his 21st birthday.

Under date of the 16th inst. Mr. Herdic received a letter from Fred W. Johnson, with Faris & Thayer, stock brokers, New York, in which the writer inclosed an affidavit made before W. E. Kimball, a notary public in New York city, to the effect that he was 21 years old and had kept his promise not to drink any intoxicating liquor. In a personal letter to Mr. Herdic the young man wrote that he "did not intend to commence drink now, so don't promise me any more hundreds, as this is very easy work for me."

He wanted the reward sent on to New York, but Mr. Herdic sent him a ticket to come to Philadelphia Saturday afternoon, and in the presence of Chief Clerk W. W. Power, of the Bingham House, the check was paid over and promptly cashed by Mr. Power. When the check has been through the Clearing House and returned to Mr. Herdic it will be framed and presented to young Johnson.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Undine Band.

During the past week or more little crowds of band men and firemen could be seen on every street corner almost, they all appearing to have some very important business on hand. Upon inquiry it was learned that a new band was being organized by the Undine fire company. In order to do this it was necessary to enlist a number of new men, and already a number of Bellefonte's musicians have planked down their initiation fees and are now full fledged members of the Undine fire company. The band will consist of fourteen pieces, and will be fully equipped by the company. An order has already been placed with C. Bruno & Son, N. Y., for a set of the famous Henry Pourcelle instruments. These instruments are manufactured in Paris, are nicely plated and finished and are considered among the best made. The band uniforms are being made by Samuel Lewin, the tailor, of this place. With the exception of two clarinet players all have become full members and are as follows:

W. H. Culveyhouse, solo cornet and leader; Wm. Derstine, Eb cornet; Frank Taylor, Bb cornet; Herbert Benner, 1st clarinet; Christ Smith, tuba; William T. Royer, baritone; Scott Lose, 1st tenor; Amon Kerstetter, trombone; Joe. Beck, solo alto; John Noll, 1st alto; Vesta Culveyhouse, snare drum; Wm. Smith, bass drum. With one or two exceptions, the above are all old players. An orchestra will also be connected with the band. The instruments were ordered through Wm. Culveyhouse, Sr., and will arrive in a few days.

The first appearance on the streets by the Undine company, in their new uniforms, headed by their own band, will likely be on Thanksgiving day, at which time the company will hold their annual ball. We hope the the project will prove beneficial to the company, and at the same time be a pleasure and a credit to the town. Bellefonte can soon boast of having two good bands.

Strength of National Guard.

Adjutant General Greenland has prepared for the information of the war department at Washington a tabulated statement showing the strength of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. The statement places the total number of enlisting men at 7,825. Of these 93 are connected with the brigade bands, 5,75½ are private, 264 musicians, 992 corporals, 512 sergeants, 132 first sergeants, 15 hospital stewards, 26 commissionary sergeants, 6 ordinance sergeants, 14 color sergeants, 21 chief musicians, 26 quartermaster sergeants, 47 sergeant majors. There are 286 commissioned officers in the guard, as follows: Major general, 1; brigadier generals, 4; colonels, 22; lieutenant colonels, 39, majors 55; surgeons, 15; assistant surgeons, 34; adjutants, 42; quartermasters, 23; chaplains, 15; captains, 142; first lieutenants, 140; second lieutenants, 138; inspectors of rifle practice, 16; cornet, 1. The aggregate strength of the guard is 8,569.

Didn't Tell His Wife.

An Ohio farmer sold a farm for $12,000 and put the money in an unused chimney without telling his wife anything about it. On Wednesday a number of visitors called upon Mrs. White and she made a fire in the spare bed room, where the money was hidden. The entire amount was burned. Fortunately for the old couple they had another farm left.

A YOUNG GIRL'S LIFE.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS.

The Story is the Same, No Matter What Her Station in Life May Be.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

No matter whether she walks to her daily toil or rides in her carriage in the park. No matter whether she is one of the millions or one of the few thousands.

Whatever her station in life may be, she is subject to the same physical laws, and suffers in proportion to their violation.

Girls' over sensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffle the physician. They withhold what ought to be told.

Thousands have found health and comfort through the counsel of Mrs. Pinkham. If you are sick, write her at Lynn, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saves the young girl from the danger resulting from organic disturbance, such as suppression or retention of menses or irregularity. It cures displacement of the womb and all forms of disease arising from derangement of the organ. It is a remedy for woman, given by a woman.

What will cure the mother will cure the daughter, as their organism is the same, and governed by the same laws.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Boys Clothing—Girls' Dresses And Cloaks—Independent Waists—Winter Jackets—Trimmings.

It would be quite a natural supposition that more attention is paid to girl's clothing than to that of boys, on the contrary their outfits show an increasec variety each season on shape, material and trimming. Sailor suits, which are now worn all the year round, are especially desirable for boys from three to ten years, as they do not require a shirt waist (price $5.00) another style for three, four or five years is more fanciful; consisting of a short jacket and trousers, made of velveteen, plain cloth, mixed Cheviots or serges, prettily braided, and worn with a blouse or shirt waist. Price $4.00 to $8.75. A Norfolk kilt suit of mixed Cheviots (price $.500) or a combination kilt skirt with jacket and vest of plain cloth and Scotch plaid skirt, are also well adapted for children fromt three to five years.

A SCHOOL SUIT.

ranging from six to fifteen years, made of all plain, fancy mixed or checkek cassimeres and Cheviots, has a double breasted jacket, buttoned up the front without a vest, and is especially neat and trim in appearance. Price $5.00 to 8.00. A new style of suit in blue serge has both long and short trousers, with adjustable white serge or striped Galated vest pieces, affording variety at very little expense. A dress suit of blue Tricot handsomely braided, has an open jacket and vest, suitable for boys from four to ten years. Price $10.50.

LITTLE GIRLS SKIRTS AND WAISTS

are of medium length, and sleeves for full dress extremely large. Great preference is shown for plain cloths or mixtures for school dresses, and to such perfection has the manufacture of children's clothes been carried, that a dark blue flannel school dress trimmed with fancy braid (four year size) may be had for $3.00 and $3.85 for twelve year size. A stylish mixed cloth dress, combined with plain material and fancy braid, is $5.25 for six year size and $7.00 for fourteen year size. Long, rough coats, covering the whole dress, will be the leading style for girls from six to twelve, and jackets for those beyond that age. A long crimson cloak, with full military cape, ornamented by narrow black braid and applique trimming is very striking, and Persian lamb edging on crimson is equally fashionable. This information is the result of a visit to Best's Liliputian Bazaar, in West 23rd St. and those that cannot go there in person, will get the most correct idea of what children are wearing, by sending to them for a winter catalogue.

INDEPENDENT WAISTS

for ladies are more stylish than ever, embracing all textures from cloth to velvet, and not unfruquently three fabrics are combined. Plaid or striped silks posses the charm of durability, but flowered or plain chiffon, or figured lace over colored silk are in great favor for evening. Rosettes are placed one at each side on the collar, at the shoulders, and two at the waist, and sometimes they measure five inches across. Colored velvet crepon satin or chiffon collars are sold separately, for use on black or dark colored dresses, sometimes with one very large buckle or two smaller ones at either side, and jewellers show off their handsomest buckles by means of colored velvet collars in their windows.

WINTER JACKETS

are all lengths, and there is nothing new about them except that hoods and applique trimmings are used to a certain extent. All trimmings except rosettes are flat, and yet passementerie edged by fur, or fur in the centre, bordered by jet, is entirely new. Neck trimmings of jet passementerie in points, set to jet collars, with a corresponding waist trimming, having longer points turning upwards, are very effective on plain costumes.

VERONA CLARKE.

For Penny Postage.

A movement is said to have been started among a number of business men in Philadelphia with the view of having the rates of first class mail matter reduced from two cents to one cent. Before the opening of the next Congress it is expected that a large fund will be available, and a close organization of business men all over the country will be formed to back up the movement. The idea originated in Chicago, it is said, and a postal reform bill will be introduced in Congress urging the passage of a law to reduce letter rates from two cents to one cent, and on merchandise from sixteen cents to eight cents per pound.

The Czar's Condition.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 26.—The following bulletin was issued at 11 o'clock this morning: "The Czar slept fairly well last night and his appetite this morning is good. There are no somnolent or convulsive somptoms. The odema has increased.

The maraiage of the Princess Ailx and the Czarewitch has been set for October 29, subject to change. The last bulletin from Livadia was issued at 9 o'clock this evening. It says: "During the day Emperor ate with a good appetite, but felt some weakness otherwise his condition is unchanged."

—The turnpike from Jacksonville to Howard was vacated last week and made a township road, and free from tolls. Burdine Butler worked hard to accomplish this and now can smile.

ASSESSORS IN COURT.

The Republicans Agree to Have the Lists Purged.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—Nineteen of the twenty assessors upon whom Judge Hare, in the quarter sessions court yesterday, granted rules compelling them to show cause why their lists of voters should not be corrected, in pursuance of proceedings primarily instituted by the Philadelphia Record, appeared in court to-day. Attorney Shields, on behalf of the defendant and also for the Republican city committee, stated that his clients were in accord with the other side (the Democrats) in a desire to have the assessors' lists purged. He then presented forty petitions to the court and asked that rules be granted upon them compelling the assessors named there into show cause why their lists should not be corrected.

Judge Hare granted the rules and fixed Monday next for hearing the contested cases. In the meantime, the Democratic and Republican committees will meet and agree, so far as possible, upon what names to omit from the list.

Western Bank Looted.

Council Bluffs, Oct. 26.—The Farmer's National bank of Malvern, a town about forty miles south of here, was wrecked and looted by robbers about 3 o'clock this morning. The vault and safes inside of the vault were blown to pieces, the concussion completely wrecking the inside of the building. Three distinct explosions were heard, the third awakening residents in the neighborhood, who arose and repaired to the scene, but did not arrive until the robbers had fled.

Some of the money was found in the street and some bills and securities were found in the debris by the bank officials this morning. Not until the wreckage is cleared up will the exact loss be known, but it is estimated that the robbers got away with between ten thousand and twenty thousand dollars.

The country is being searched for miles around for the robbers. The bank officers state that the depositors will lose nothing the bank sustaining all the loss.

Will Plead Not Guilty.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct 26.—The defense which the Robinsons will put up to the charge of murdering Montgomery Gibbs, was shown plainly in the court of oyer and terminer before Judge Lambert this morning when husband and wife were both arraigned on the charge of murder in the first degree. They will deny the story that the husband told. Clarence will go back on his story implicating his wife and Sarah will deny the story which she has told implicating her husband. Both pleaded "not guilty."

The scene which was enacted in court this noon was most dramatic, for the husband and wife have not seen each other since they parted in Cleveland.

Some delay at the door brought husband and wife within a few feet of each other, and, breaking away from the deputy who had her in charge, Mrs Robinson threw herself in her husband's arms. They kissed each other with passionate friendliness.

The Mine Collapsed.

Iron Mountain, Mich., October 26.—One man was instantly killed and eleven others were entombed alive in the Pewabic mine yesterday. The accident was due to the collapse of the sandstone which roofed the room on the fourth level, where the men were at work. The dead man is Frank Gabora. The entombed, so far as their names are obtainable, are: John Farrell, Peter Hellberg, William Pickard and William Thomas. The accident was on the fourth level of shaft No. 1 and took place at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The lives of the entombed will be in jeopardy for eighteen hours, as it will take that length of time for so large a force of men can be employed in the narrow shaft to clear away the rubbish. The setting commenced in an old room above the third level, about 100 feet in height.. Last night Superintendent Brown expressed himself as being confident that all the entombed men would be taken out alive. This will depend very much on whether the air is pure and of sufficient quantity to keep them alive. The miners think that the supply will not prove sufficient and that it is charged with poisonous gases.

SAILED THE SEAS 38 YEARS.

One of His Experiences.

For thirty-eight years Capt. Loud followed the sea, most of that time as master of a vessel, and upon retiring from the water was appointed by the Secretary of the United States Treasury to superintend the seal fisheries in Alaska, which position he held five years. He relates one experience as follows:

"For several years I had been troubled with general nervousness and pain in the region of my heart. My greatest affliction was sleeplessness; it was almost impossible at any time to obtain rest and sleep. Having seen Dr. Miles' remedies advertised I began using Nervine. After taking a small quantity the benefit received was so great that I was positively alarmed, thinking the remedy contained opiates which would finally be injurious to me; but on being assured by the druggist that it was perfectly harmless, I continued it together with the Heart Cure. Today I can conscientiously say that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure did more for me than anything I had ever taken. I had been treated by eminent physicians in New York and San Francisco without benefit. I owe my present good health to the judicious use of these most valuable remedies, and heartily recommend them to all afflicted as I was."—Capt. A. P. Loud, Hampden, Me.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Cure are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, express prepaid. They are free from all opiates and dangerous drugs.

A Fatal Storm.

While it was thundering and lightning here yesterday, a terrific storm was prevailing in Clearfield county.

A Clearfield special says the storm was accompanied by hail and wind, thunder and lightning. A woman and three cows were killed in Redford township. The woman's name was Wilson and she lived on a farm. The storm passed over there about 7 o'clock and Mrs. Wilson was standing at a window, there was a sharp flash of lightning and she was thrown to the floor by the shock and never recovered. Three children were in the room at the same time and none of them were hurt; neither was there any other damage. It could not be discovered that the lightning had touched the house, but three cows near it were killed at the same time.

On another farm in the same neighborhood one cow and a hog were killed in the same manner. Hail fell to the depth of about an inch, but did not cause any special damage.

A $200,000 Sermon.

Few preachers in recent years attracted more attention in Philadelphia than Rev. Madison C. Peters, of the First Presbyterian Church of Northern Liberties (one of the five or six "First" Presbyterian churches in Philadelphia), who has lectured in Bellefonte once or twice, and now of the Bloomingdale Reformed church, in New York, a $300,000 edifice built for him especially. This came to him just about the time the Presbyterians in Philadelphia, thinking him too liberal, were preparing to make matters uncomfortable. Now he has had more luck. Some time ago, Robert Owens, one of the largest owners of real estate in Dutchess, Columbia, Erie and Steuben counties, went to hear Parson Peters and was wonderfully struck by what he said. Two months ago while on a voyage to Europe, Mr. Owens died, and when his will was opened it was found that he had left Rev. Mr. Peters real estate valued at about $200,000—quite a profitable sermon, it must be said. Two other brothers of the fortunate preacher are clergymen also, one in Zion's, in York, and the other in Hanover, both Pennsylvania Dutch Reformed.

A Minister's Baggage Stolen.

On Saturday last when Rev. Rearick, of this place, reached Salona, whither he had gone to install Rev. Spangler, he was met at the station, taken into a buggy by one of the brethren, and his baggage placed in the back of the rig. When reaching his destination, the Reverend's baggage was non est—it was stolen and has not yet been recovered. This is rough on Solona and would indicate that preachers are needed over that way to correct the ways of some.

Possibly the minister's satchel had among its effects a powerful sermon, upon one of the ten commandments, "Thou shalt not steal," and lead to this thief's salvation.

To be Married in Altoona.

Invitations are out announcing the marriage of Miss Grace Furey, only daughter of Mrs. Martha E. Furey, of Altoona, to David McMurtrie, of that city. The bride to be will be remembered as a former resident of Bellefonte and her many friends here will be happy to learn that she is about to marry a reputable young pharmacist of the Mountain city. The wedding will be celebrated in St. Luke's church, Wednesday evening, October 31st, at half past seven o'clock.

Miss Furey directed the production of the opera, "Pirates of Penzance," in this place some time ago.

Likes a Change.

Jersey Shore Vidette: The thief who exchanged horses with A. P. Sperring, near Mill Hall, on Sunday night, used Mr. Sperring's old gray mare from Mill Hall to John Sebring's lime kiln, near the Beech Creek railroad bridge. Here the thief exchanged horses with Mr. Sebring, then proceeded as far as Mount Zion, a few miles below Jersey Shore, and made another midnight swap, and passed on down the country.

Gen. Beaver At Sharon.

Sharon, Pa., Oct. 26.—Gen. James A. Beaver and party arrived in Sharon this afternoon. They spoke last night in the village of Sheakleyville to 1,200 people. To-night a mass meeting was held in Ashton's Hall to an overcrowded house. The other speakers were Congressman Alexander McDowell and A. W. Williams. Gen Beaver spoke mainly on the disastrous effect of Democratic legislation on the working man.

—A dime concert will be given in the Y M. C. A. gymnasium next Friday evening, November 2nd, for the benefit of the Junior department. Some of Bellefonte's best musical talent will assist. Watch for the program in this paper.

A Candy Manufactory.

Mr. John D. Sourbeck, the confectioner and green groceryman, on High street, is going to branch out into the candy making business, and in the future will manufacture his own candies. For this purpose he is obliged to enlarge his present rooms, and to do this he is building an extensive addition in the rear. Mr. Sourbeck will go into the business for all it is worth and will manufacture all of the best kinds and grades of confectionery. He will manufacture for both the wholesale and retail trade, and we predict for him great success as a candy maker, both in the quality of goods and in the quantity he will sell, for we have no doubt but that his product will at once find ready sale. The building to be used is almost completed and Mr. Sourbeck expects to have candy of his own manufactnre ready for sale by the week in November.

Cushing In Bellefonte.

On Thursday evening the court house was crowded with men, women and children, in about equal proportions, to hear Hon. Volney B. Cushing, of Maine, talk on Prohibition. Mr. Cushing is not a stranger to our people, he having been here to talk on the constitutional amendment question several years ago. His address Thursday evening was very interesting and listened to with great attention. Hon. H. T. Ames, of Williamsport, was also present and gave a brief talk, as did county chairman J Ziegler. There was music by the Milesburg band and the prohibition quartette. All in all the cold water people have reason to feel encouraged with the size of their meeting.

C. C. Shuey Bought It.

Meyer G. Guggenheimer came up from his home in Philadelphia on last Saturday to look after some business here. It was his first visit to Bellefonte, his former home, in four years and he was so much changed in appearance that very few of his old accquaintances recognized him at first. His business in town was to sell the Hirsch property, on High street, at present occupied by Ed. Rowe. He sold it to C. C Shuey for $1400 cash. Mrs. Hirsch, who was Mrs. Sussman, also owns some land in the vicinity of the Karthause gas well which Meyer was looking after. He is in business in Philadelphia, with his younger brother Louis, manufacturing fancy signs and show cards.

Adam Grenoble.

The funeral of the venerable Adam Grenoble, one of the most respected and upright citizens of Gregg township, took place at the White church, east of Penn Hall, on last Sabbath afternoon. He was an old residenter, a farmer in earlier years, and a man of staunch integrity. He was a Christian by profession and practice and a devoted member of the Reformed church. The funeral was one of the largest in that vicinity—101 vehicles were counted following the remains to their last resting place. His age was 79 years, 2 months and 11 days.

At Fillmore.

On next Sunday evening a week, Nov. 4th, some of the young men of Bellefonte will conduct a religious meeting in the Methodist church at Fillmore. They will take with them the quartet composed of Jacob Smith, W. H. Musser, C. C. Snuey, Walter Whippo and Prof. Ammerman as organist. The meeting will commence at 7 o'clock promptly and everybody is cordially invited to be present.

Death of Wm. Musser, Sr.

Pine Grove has lost one of his oldest and most esteemed citizens in the death of Mr. Wm. Musser, Sr., at his home at Pine Grove, on Wednesday of this week, Oct. 24, which was due to a complication of diseases not now fully known. He was aged about 70 years, and was the father six children, five of whom survive him. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

Furnaces in Centre County.

In 1826 there were in operation, in Centre county, ten charcoal furnaces, six forges, two rolling mills, two nail factories and one screw factory. These furnaces produced annually eleven thousand tons of pig metal and on hundred tons of bar iron. When we take into consideration that this iron had to be hauled to market in wagons, the energies displayed by the pioneers of the business was most remarkable. To-day there is but one furnace in the county in operation and it makes coke pig metal, not a single charcoal furnace making metal.

There certainly has been wrong legislation that reduced the largest iron producing county in the state, in 1826, down to one active furnace.

SINGERLY IN BELLEFONTE.

The Democratic Campaigning Party Visit Hastings' Home.

The democratic campaigning party composed of the following gentlemen, Col. William M. Singerly, Hon. William F. Harrity, Hon. W. U. Hensel, Gen. W. W. Greenland, Hon. John A. Garman, Col. Magee, Hon. Thomas Collins, R. Jones Monaghan, Hon. Gerard C. Brown and representatives of the press, arrived in Bellefonte on a special train at 8 15 o'clock this morning. They were met at the depot by a crowd of about 300 and the Bellefonte band, and were conveyed in carriages, which were in waiting, to the court house, where an hour's meeting was held. The court house was well filled, even at the early hour of 8 30 o'clock, but the audience was made up of about as many republicans as democrats.. H. Sechler called the meeting to order at 8 28 announcing that "we had received an early morning call from the man who would be 'our next governor.'" Mr. Singerly was then introduced.

After a few preliminary remarks he said: "This must be the sunrise of democracy. They told us when we started out that democracy was dead, but such an audience as this disproves that assertion." The speaker expressed great delight and pleasure at the wonderful and enormous receptions he has received everywhere, and that with a fair election everywhere the state will go democratic in next November. Mr. Singerly said there would be no one hundred thousand majority in the state, hardly the usual majority. With asking the democrats to stick to their ticket, Mr. Singerly closed.

Hon. W. U. Hensel was then introduced. Mr. Hensel opened with a story that put the audience in a good humor. He then threw forth a challenge to General Hastings as speaking fabrications and not facts. He denies that the wheels of industries are still, but affirmed that business was now better than it has been in years. Mr. Hensel's address was one long criticism of the republican candidate's campaign tour.

Col. Magee was the next speaker of the morning, who, after the usual complimentary (?) allusions to General Hastings, discussed the tariff issue. He said that out of the 11,000,000 working men in the United States, only about 2,700,000 work in the protected industries. He then asked the question if it were fair to tax the almost eight million to keep up the other three million? Were it not better to make the eight million prosperous and leave the other three follow after. He denied that the McKinley bill was favorable to the working man, but asserted that free trade was the only policy of success for all and universal business prosperity. In closing the speaker exhorted every democrat to stand up and vote for their ticket, and thus register their approbation of the Wilson tariff bill.

Hon. John A. Garman, of Luzerne county, was the next speaker and the last one of the morning. His speech was composed priucipally of compliments to the Centre county democracy. Mr. Garman said that the battle was raging all along the line and that the fight would be a hot one. He charged that industries were being kept closed in the interest of the republican party workers to insure success to them in November.

At 9.25 o'clock the meeting adjourned to enable the party to continue their way to the Susquehanna valley. During the meeting, while some were talking others were taking breakfast at the hotel, the party having traveled from Pittsburg this morning, from where they started at 2 40 o'clock. The whole party started on the 9 32 train for Lock Haven.

Thieves Make a Good Haul at Roaring Spring.

The Roaring Spring postoffice was burglarized by two men yesterday morning. Entrance was gained through the rear window and the safe was blown open, and the following contents taken: Stamps, $399.30; money order funds, $60.23; two registered letters, contents unknown; private money, $7; two trays containing rings and watch chains and two gold and five silver watches as follows: One ladies' No. 6 gold filled case and gents' No. 18 hunting case, gold filled. The silver watches were No. 18 size. There was also a lot of valuable papers stolen, belonging to different persons, a note of $400 belonging to John Hydecker and forty blank and unsigned water bonds of Roaring Spring borough, Nos. 11 to 40, inclusive. There is no clue to the robbers.

Look Out for Him.

Hon. S. Gilliland, though old, is wide awake. He wrote us a few days ago: "There is a stranger visiting this neighborhood, (Oak Hall) soliciting money for a building association and has taken considerable money. I heard of his being in the neighborhood of Centre Hall." Persons should be on their guard when strangers want money for any project, and be sure that all is straight.—Reporter.

Valuable Coal Tract.

Bad Proof Reading.

The editor of an exchange in saying that the windows of the church ought to be washed, left the letter "n" out of the word windows and every widow in town has since gone for the editor.

Another exchange is in need of a good proof reader. It concludes a wedding notice by wishing the bridal pair "uninterrupted pappiness."

To Swap Audiences.

General Hastings and Candidate Singerly will both be at Norristown on Saturday next. Singerly challenged Hastings to swap audiences on that occasion. That is Hastings is to speak to Singerly's audience after talking to his own and Singerly is to do likewise.

—Edward Grove, the 16 year-old son of Dr. Grove, of Milesburg, who was in Bellefonte this morning and got on the 9.32 train to go to his home in that place. When in the vicinity of McCalmont & Co's lime kilns Grove either attempted to jump or else fell of the train which was running at a 30 mile rate. He landed on his head and turned a couple somersaults, receiving numerous cuts and bruises. His condition is considered serious if not critical.

—While Mrs. Edward Drumel and Mrs. Murphy, of Julian, were driving from that place to Unionville recently, the horse frightened throwing both ladies out and injuring them quite severely.

—Down in the eastern end of Centre county bear are so numerous that they are becoming a pest to the farmers, going into barnyards and carrying off sheep and pigs. One farmer killed three one day last week.

—The University Extension lecture that was to have been given last Friday evening but was postponed on account of the illness of Prof. Axson, the lecturer, will be given in the Presbyterian chapel the coming Friday evening.

—Herbert Cawthorn and his "A Cork Man" company at Garman's opera house Friday night was a great success. Mr. Cawthorn was a great success in every particular while his support was composed of some of the best specialty artists that ever visited Bellefonte.

—The Catholic church fair and festival will begin on next Monday evening at 5.30 o'clock with a supper. It will be held on the first floor of the new Brockerhoff building, "Temple Court," on Allegheny street, and will continue one week. Many valuable articles will be chanced off during the week.

—The editor of the Hornet should not criticise the Bellefonte correspondents and then follow in the same article with a paragraph admitting they were correct. It is so much like publishing a man's obituary then ending with a paragraph stating that "since the above was put in type we learn he isn't dead."

—A load of five bears was brought to Bellefonte on Tuesday. Mr. Frank Stover, the popular butcher on High street purchased two of the animals and anybody now wanting bear meat can get it of Mr. Stover. Mr. Blackford bought some of the meat and will have bear soup for his patons on Saturday.

—The democrats held quite a meeting in the court house on Tuesday evening which was addressed by State Chairman James P. Stranahan, candidate for senator Matt Savage, Aaron Williams and Postmaster D. F. Fortney. The house was comfortably filled and the Bellefonte band furnished music for the occasion.

—Just because there is very little being said or printed now about the movement for a Centre County Fair it must not be supposed that the project has fallen through by any means. There is lots of real work being done in the way of soliciting subscriptions to stock, and some of these fine days the Fair will boom bigger than ever, see if it dont.

—In many of the regiments of the National Guard there has been less interest taken this season in rifle practice than for several years past and this is said to be due to the raising of the standard of sharpshooters. To become a sharpshooter at the present time a marksman must first declare his intention of making a score of 45 out of a possible 50 points at the 200 and 500 yard ranges and make the score in five consecutive shots at each range. This is not easily done by any means, and men who make the score legitimately this year will not be of any great number. The former score required for sharpshooters was 42 points.

Bear Soup on Saturday.

George Blackford, the famous restauranter, on Bishop street, will have a treat for his customers on Saturday in shape of some of the most delicious bear soup ever made. Don't forget to go around and try it. Can be had any time during the day. The bear meat was purchased at Stover's meat market.

BELLEFONTE DEFEATED.

Altoona's Foot Ball Team Won by a Score of 16 to 0.

From the Altoona Tribune.

The game of foot ball between Bellefonte and Altoona, on Saturday afternoon at Lakemont park, was as fine an exhibition of the game as was ever played in this city. Altoona took the ball, the visitors defending the goal opposite the lake. Crozier kicked off, but the ball was returned to within five yards of the middle of the field. Stayer went through Bellefonte's line like a shot, throwing the runner before he had started with the ball. Altoona got the ball on three downs. Aukerman went through the centre for twenty-five yards, and Gregg gained fifteen yards around the left end. Bellefonte braced up, and Crozier was forced to kick. Rothrock caught, but Westbrook threw him by a very pretty tackle before the ball had been carried back five yards. Bellefonte could not gain through the line and on the third down Stuart kicked gaining twenty-five yards. Altoona just then became aware of the existence of the goal line some thirty-five yards away and started out for it. Aukerman went through the centre for thirty-five yards, Gregg gained ten yards around left end with good interference, Aukerman bucked the line for about ten yards, and Gregg penetrated the other side of the remaining distance, making the first touchdown after fifteen minutes play. McEldowney failed to kick goal. Score: 4–0.

The halves were only twenty minutes long and although Altoona played a fast and snappy game and kept the ball in her opponent's territory, the time was called when the teams were on Bellefonte's ten yard line.

An intermission of fully fifteen minutes was taken. It was ended by Captain Aukerman calling out, "Gettysburg on the field." The Altoona boys understood and scampered out, knowing that this game had carried the captain back to last year when he was at the head of his college team.

Bellefonte kicked off from the centre of the field and made thirty yards. Altoona gained ten yards by Aukerman's rush through the centre. Westbrook carried the ball forward five yards. Two more scrimmages yielded our team fifteen yards.

Heess ran with the ball for five yards and Aukerman made ten yards around the left end, and ten yards more were given to Altoona for off side play. Our boys bucked the line on one side and then the other, gaining steadily and always keeping the ball. Gregg was finally sent around the end and with good interference made the second touch down. Crozier kicked the goal. Score, 10–0.

Stuart kicked from the middle of the field and Stayer caught, running the ball back ten yards. Altoona lost three yards on the next down, but gained twelve yards on the following downs by Aukerman's rushes through the line. McEldowney gained fifteen yards on the quarter back pass. Aukerman gained another fifteen yards around the left end. Altoona then lost the ball by failing to make the necessary gain on three downs.

Bellefonte lost it on a fumble by Taylor. Just here was a little loose playing. The ball was fumbled by one of Altoona's men, but Stayer came out of the crowd with it and made a touchdown. The referee wouldn't allow it and gave Bellefonte the ball. One of Stewart's long kicks sent the ball over back to the centre of the field again. Gregg made five yards through the line. Heess and Galfaudet then made a big opening for him which he used, gaining about twenty yards. It looked like acother touchdown, but Rothrock, the State College half-back, brought him down. Hall made a fine run through the large gap made by Piper and Westbrook, gaining fifteen yards. Aukerman and Heess each made gains.

There was about five yards yet to make and forty seconds yet to play. The next rush only yielded three feet to the A. C. C.'s so Aukerman had to buck the centre again before the ball went over. Crozier kicked goal. Score, 16 to 0 in our favor.

The ball was taken out to the centre again and several lively scrimmages took place. When time was called the ball was near the centre of the grid-iron. The A. C. C. boys, before they left the field, gave their yell in honor of their victory and the visiting team.

The teams lined up as follows:

ALTOONA	POSITIONS.	BELLEFONTE.
Stayer	Left End	Harper
Westbrook	Left Tackle	Shaffer
Piper	Left Guard	R. B. Taylor
Fisher	Centre	Bush
Gallaudet	Right Guard	Quigley

State College News.

While in Germany last year, Prof. Pond secured from different manufacturers specimens of their products for use in his chemistry work in the State College. The donations have arrived and are displayed in the Chemistry building. The dyes and specimens of their work are especially varied and beautiful, Dozens of packages show the different uses of gelatine and the perfume perfume bottles would start a small drug store. In connection with the exhibit made by this department for the World's Fair, they were much admired and studied by the visitors at the recent State Board of Agriculture meeting.

Cards have been received here announcing the coming marriage of Prof. G. L. Holter, Professor of Chemistry in the Oklahoma Agricultural College. He is a native of Center county and has many friends here who will be glad to learn of his fortune. He was for several years a chemist in the Experiment Station at State College.

The athletic element is jubilant over the liberal teams given to the football team by the University of Pennsylvania team for the game to be played in Philadelphia next Saturday. The Philadelphia papers vie with each other in praise of State's team. The Record says that it is the strongest team in America outside of Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania.

Also, Princeton, the champions of America, have offered State the choice of three dates, in order to secure a strong team with whichito play prior to their game with Harvard.

Lucas Not Guilty.

Thomas C. Lucas, son of Reuben Lucas, of Howard, who was arrested in Scranton on the 19th instant and taken on a writ of requisition to Valparaiso, Ind., on a charge of swindling the grandmother of a former sweetheart out of $2,750, mention of which was made in this paper last week, has returned to his home at Howard, the Commonwealth failing to establish their case against the young man, as he was able to show that the money was lost through an unfortunate investment along with a sum of Lucas' own money, and that the transaction was perfectly legitimate in every respect. Lucas will return to Scranton where he has a lucrative situation in the Schools of Mines and Engineering.

Smith's mode of operations is to consign produce to merchants in towns and cities, then a visit and offers them forged certified checks on the Buckhannon bank of West Virginia. Smith is described as being five feet, eight inches in height, weighs 140 pounds, has brown hair, brown eyes, sandy mustache, and has a mole on the right cheek near the mustache. Must Pay the Pastor.

E. T. Ott, the retiring pastor of the United Brethren on Three Springs circuit being deficent in his salary, made complaint before Justice P. H. Bence against delinquents who were members of quarterly conference. The Justice ruled that a quarterly conference had a legal right to meet these promises to pay and that under the circumstances the members of the conference were individually liable for the amount of salary promised. The opinion of the officer was not appealed from and the Revejend got his pay from the delinquent appointments in question.

WEATHER FORECAST FOR NOVEMBER.

Foster Tells of the Changes That Will Sweep Across the Continent.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 24th to 28th and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 29th, cross the western mountains by close of the 30th, the great central valleys from 31st to Nov. 2 and the eastern states about Nov. 3.

This disturbance will be above the average in force and severe frosts reaching far into the cotton belt will follow it. The second storm wave of November will reach the Pacific coast about Nov. 4, cross the western mountains by close of the 5th, the great central valleys from 6th to 8th and the eastern states about the 9th.

This disturbance will be at its greatest force in the eastern states about the 9th and the cool wave will be most severe in the Mississippi valley about the same time. Warm waves will cross the western mountains about Oct. 26 and Nov. 4, the great central valleys about Oct. 31 and Nov. 6 and the eastern states about Nov. 2 and 8.

Cool waves will cross the western mountains about Nov. 1 and 7, the great central valleys 3d and 9th, and the eastern states about 5th and 11th.

The first half of November will be generally stormy, with indications of an early winter that will not be realized, for November will average warm and dry. This, however, will be only the general average of the whole United States. My local calculations for rainfall and temperature of November are not completed, but I will give what these incompleted calculations appear to indicate for November.

For the northeastern states, including all north of the Potomac and east of the Alleghenies, the temperature of the month will average from three to five degrees above the normal, and the rainfall from one to three inches below.

My calculations for the southern states are not far enough along to be reliable, but probabilities seem to indicate that both temperature and rainfall will be below the average. Important factors were lacking in making the calculations for the above forecasts, and readers should not expect them to be verified, but the probabilities are with the forecasts as made and they indicate what the style of my predictions will be beginning with the month of January, 1895.

On less complete calculations I based my general forecasts for October and up to this writing, Oct. 20, the predictions have been most remarkably well verified.

Accidental Death.

The Potter enterprise in reference to the death of Theodore Sturdevant who was at first supposed to have been murdered, says: The facts in the case are hard to obtain. It seems that the man was found lying on his back between the rails, and upon examination it was found that he had received a bad scalp wound, several ribs on his left side were crushed in and there was also a dark spot at the lower part of the spine. It was first thought there had been foul play, but later and after careful examination, it was decided that the unfortunate man had fallen from the rear end of a car.

Coroner Ashcroft held an inquest, the jury, we believe, bringing in a verdict of accidental death.

Skeleton of a Mastodon Found.

A Newton Hamilton correspondent says: One day, the latter part of last week, as George Swayne, who resides in Germany valley, was burning some brush on his farm, the ground, which appeared to partake something of the nature of peat, caught fire, and in digging around to outen the fire he came upon the skeleton of a mastodon which he partly unearthed and as far as can be seen appears to be in a perfect state of preservation. The tusk is about seven feet long, the ribs about five feet in length and the molar teeth weigh nearly twenty pounds.

The programme will consist of a superb series of pictures that are the highest ideals of the artists skill, representing some of the most taking canvases of this country and Europe. WHO DID IT?

PROMINENT DEMOCRATS RELIEVED OF VALUABLES AT THE OPEN AIR MEETING SATURDAY.

That is the question agitating many in our quiet city to-day. The democratic demonstration of Saturday was a success in more senses than one. No circus ever brought to this city has attracted a more successful body of pickpockets, nor has our leading politicians ever bled so freely, or rather suffered such depletion of pocketbooks and valuables.

Prominent among the sufferers are our worthy Mayor—W. H. Mayer—whose magnificent $450 diamond pin no longer adds brilliancy and attraction to his matchless shirt front. It shines for another.

Hon. John W. Smith was relieved of $45 in cash and a pocketbook containing valuable papers exceeding a thousand dollars.

Col. W. A. Simpson, Sr., is out $15.

Wm. Allen's Russia leather pocketbook the contents of which are represented to be notes and checks, is also missing.

Others present contributed of their wealth, and thus lessened further campaign funds for Democratic demonstrations.

It is supposed that these stealings took place during the Hon. T. C. Hipple's eloquent introductory remarks as that was only time there was any display of enthusiasm and marked attention by the crowd.

The victims are not very hilarious over their experience at the democratic demonstration.

They Endorsed Hastings.

The Hastings Republican Club (colored) held a meeting at their rooms on High street, on Monday evening, A. V. Jackson, president.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. W. F. Reeder, County Chairman, was present and addressed the Club. He spoke in highest terms of the workings of the Club and urged all members to continue in the good work. He stated to the Club the condition of the Country under the present administration, and told of its great need of a sound Government and such a government comes only and by the Republican party. His argument all along the line of Republicanism was convincing and full of patriotism. He concluded by impressing upon the minds of all members of the Club to vote the full Republican ticket, after which the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

We, the colored voters of this Borough, and vicinity, organized into a Hastings Colored Club of Bellefonte:

Recognizing as we do the unquestionable worth of the Republican party, from the time of the immortal Lincoln, down to the present time, and as an example of their extreme goodness and considering the wonderful progress we have made in the last thirty years, when for more than two hundred years previous to this time we scarcely owned a dollar's worth of property as against now owning and controlling millions of dollar's worth of property, as a race, besides the advantages of a free and public school system, the establishment of colleges and seminaries, in almost every state in this great union, all owned and controlled by ourselves; and last but not least, the right of franchise which was handed us by the Republican party, and in all it gives us, the American citizenship, we must be justly proud of; And,

WHEREAS, We recognize the Republican party as our only benefactors, and most ardent and warm defenders, and in our standard bearer, General D. H. Hastings, a warm friend to the race, and can testify to his goodness of heart, his ability as a statesman and genial disposition. And,

WHEREAS, the candidates on the Republican ticket, all, State, County and Judicial, are all in harmony with our political faith. Be it therefore

Resolved, That this Club, individually and collectively, pledge ourselves to support the entire ticket, from now until after the polls close on the sixth day of November, for the party which has always protected american labor and american industries, and has stood in defence of our country, and the established union.

The attendance was large and several speeches were made by members of the organization which were heartily applauded by the enthusiastic crowd. The club then adjourned to meet on Thursday night, when every member is urged to be present.
